Massachusetts Worker's Compensation Rate Change

Effective September 1, 2010

The Commissioner of Insurance has approved a revision of Workers' Compensation rates, effective September 1, 2010, applicable to policies that are new or renew on or after that date. The specific changes and the actual rates for individual classifications have just been released. With this mailing we have enclosed a listing of the actual rates for the most common construction classifications. Important items that will change effective 9/1/10 are:

1) RATE LEVEL DECREASE OF 2.40%

The overall average decrease will be 2.40% from the existing workers' compensation average rates. The actual change will vary by individual class. The Average Rate for the construction industry as a group decreased 3.00%. However, some individual rates have gone up over 20%, so be sure to check those that apply to your work.

2) USL&H PERCENTAGE LOADING

The USL&H Percentage Loading will go down from 39.2% to 32.0%. If operations under Non-F classifications involve employees subject to the U.S. Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act you must multiply those rates by a factor of 1.32.

3) EXPERIENCE RATING PLAN CHANGES

The Experience Rating Plan Expected Loss Rates will also be revised. The Expected Loss Rate change is -21.3% total, and -24.1% for Construction which will put upward pressure on the EMRs. When the Expected Loss Rates go down you are expected to have fewer losses. This means, if your classification, payroll and losses all remains the same in your Experience Rating Calculation, your actual Experience Modification (EMR) will tend to go up. This will apply to Experience Modifications effective on and after 9/1/10.

4) SMALL DEDUCTIBLE CREDITS

The premium reduction percentage applicable to the election of small deductibles have been revised to the following:

Deductible	Reduction		Deductible	Reduction
$500	1.9%		$2,000	4.7%
1,000	3.1%		2,500	5.3%

If you have an Aggregate Deductible Program those credits have changed as well, but are based on your total premium. Those changes range from zero to -0.3 percentage points.

5) NO CHANGES IN THE FOLLOWING:

- Loss Constants
- Merit Rating Credit Program
- Premium Discounts
- Qualified Loss Management Program [QLMP]

In a change separate from the Workers' Comp rate release, the Department of Industrial Accidents has announced that for policies effective 7/1/10 and thereafter, the DIA Assessment has been reduced from 7.2% to 6.8%.

Please let us know if you have any questions.
